About NHS Improvement

NHS Improvement is responsible for overseeing Foundation Trusts, NHS Trusts and independent providers. We offer the support these providers need to give patients consistently safe, high quality, compassionate care within local health systems that are financially sustainable. By holding providers to account and, where necessary, intervening, we help the NHS to meet its short-term challenges and secure its future.

NHS Improvement is the operational name for the organisation that brings together Monitor, NHS Trust Development Authority, Patient Safety, the National Reporting and Learning System, the Advancing Change team and the Intensive Support Teams.

We value and promote diversity and are committed to equality of opportunity for all and appointments made on merit. We believe that the best boards are those that reflect the communities they serve.

We particularly welcome applications from women, people from the local black and minority ethnic communities, and disabled people who we know are under-represented in chair and non-executive roles.

1. Background to the London North West Healthcare NHS Trust

1.1. About the Trust

London North West Healthcare NHS Trust was created on 1 October 2014 following the merger of Ealing Hospital NHS Trust (including a multi-Borough community care organisation) and The North West London Hospitals NHS Trust. The Trust is one of the largest integrated Trusts in the country. Clinical services span a spectrum from home and community based care to acute services, including a specialist hospital and specialist services of regional national and international significance, which we deliver from:

- Central Middlesex Hospital (CMH)
- Community hubs in the London Boroughs of Brent, Ealing and Harrow
- Ealing Hospital
- Northwick Park Hospital (NPH), and
- St Mark’s Hospital.
- A wide range of community sites in Brent, Ealing and Harrow, including GP surgeries and Health Centres.

Within the community estate are: Clayponds Rehabilitation Hospital, The Denham Unit and the Willesden Centre, which offer bedded rehabilitation services for patients fit to be discharged from an acute hospital bed but unable to return immediately to their homes. There is also the Meadow House Hospice located on the Ealing Hospital site which offers a specialist palliative care service.

The Trust care for the diverse population of over one million people living in Brent, Ealing and Harrow, as well as patients from all over the country and internationally at St Mark’s, our specialist hospital for colorectal diseases.

The Trust employs some 8,900 people, including over 1,300 doctors and 4,400 nurses, as well as therapists, scientists, other health professionals, and administrative and support staff; making it one of the largest local employer.

Research and development and undergraduate and postgraduate education and training play a vital role in the Trust.

The Trust has an operating budget in excess of £700 million for 2017-18 but faces significant financial challenges in the short and medium term that will require sustained Board focus to ensure the organisation achieves financial balance. Operationally the Trust is responding to high levels of demand, particularly for emergency services. The Trust has responded to these demands with the development of a new emergency pathway; the completion of a new A&E facility on the Northwick Park Hospital site and some additional intensive care and bed capacity on the Northwick Park site. The Trust’s services extend to:

- Full emergency department services at Northwick Park and Ealing Hospitals, both supported by urgent care centres
- Emergency assessment and treatment services including critical care. The Trust is a designated trauma and stroke unit
• Acute and elective surgery and medical treatments such as day and inpatient surgery and endoscopy, outpatients, services for older people, acute stroke care and cancer services
• Specialist services, such as the nationally and internationally renowned services of St Mark’s hospital for colorectal conditions, and leading specialities for areas such as head and neck, vascular, and general emergency surgery; regional neuro-rehabilitation; hyper-acute stroke; and is part of one of the leading genomics collaborations;
• Comprehensive maternity services including consultant-led care, midwifery-led natural birth centre, community midwifery support, antenatal care, postnatal care and home births. There is also a special care baby unit
• Children’s services including emergency assessment, inpatient, outpatient and a range of universal community services
• A variety of community services for adults including district nursing and the community bedded facilities
• Specialist community services supporting older people and those with long-term conditions and disability such as diabetes, podiatry and musculoskeletal services
• Diagnostic services including pathology and imaging services
• A wide range of therapy services including physiotherapy and occupational therapy
• Clinical education and training for undergraduate and post-graduate doctors and clinical research

The Trust is also committed to a process of clinical integration that will bring together the clinical teams from the legacy Trusts to develop new pathways of care that will offer high quality services to the residents of north west London

The north west London health economy in which the Trust operates is undergoing significant change due to the implementation of the ‘Shaping a Healthier Future’ initiative. This will result in moving a significant proportion of healthcare provision into the community, whilst maintaining high quality acute facilities in the area which will be able to offer services 24/7 365 days a year. The Trust accepts this will be a challenge, but believes it is well placed to deliver high quality patient pathways by integrating community services and acute facilities across the three boroughs.

The Trust’s vision, values and priorities:

“Our vision is to provide excellent clinical care in the right setting by being:

- Compassionate
- Responsive
- Innovative

Corporate objectives 2016/17

The Trust has chosen six key objectives for 2016/17 they are:
Improving our focus on safety and quality

- We will work with our patients to ensure that the Trust complies with the recommendations made by the Francis Inquiry into the events at Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust
- We will continue to ensure the safety and wellbeing of all patients in our care

Improving patient experience, satisfaction and engagement

- We will work with all our stakeholders to develop a culture of openness, caring and compassion
- We will actively involve patients and carers in all aspects of care and service delivery and act on their feedback
- We will complete our programme to improve our estate, including the operating theatres, emergency department and infrastructure at the Northwick Park site

Create a sustainable workforce that is engaged in developing and improving services

- We aim to become the employer of choice for healthcare staff
- We will ensure our values are understood and embedded

Ensure financial sustainability

- We will deliver a financial strategy that supports the merged trust but does not undermine our focus on patient safety

Plan for our future

- We will support implementation of the Shaping a Healthier Future programme to enable better standards of care for our patients

Continuing the journey to becoming an excellent integrated care organisation

- We will engage front line services in improving acute and community services through transformational change
- We will promote integration and engage staff and service users in integration

Equalities

As part of meeting its Public Sector Equality Duties London North West Healthcare NHS Trust will be developing equality objectives through consultation with our local stakeholders and communities. Whilst undertaking this process the Trust has adopted the equality objectives of its legacy organisations and will ensure these are reported against.”

2. The person specification

2.1. The opportunity:

We are recruiting a non-executive director for London North West Healthcare NHS Trust. This is an exceptional opportunity to share your talents and expertise to make a positive difference to the lives of people in your community.

2.2. Essential criteria

You will need to have a genuine commitment to patients and the promotion of excellent health care services. You will have senior level executive experience gained in a large or complex organisation(s) using global standards, processes and organisational systems or non-executive experience in the private, third or public sectors. You will have experience or competencies in at least some of the following areas:

- audit and risk management;
- strategic property / estates management or development;
- systems design or engineering;
- digital technologies and data management;
- organisational development and culture;
- long term care of the frail or elderly in the community.

Local residency is advantageous.

2.3. Board level behaviours

The NHS Leadership model describes nine behaviours which together contribute towards strong and effective NHS leaders. If you are invited to interview, you will also need to demonstrate the range of behaviours required to contribute effectively in this board level role:

- inspiring shared purpose - create a shared purpose for diverse individuals doing different work, inspiring them to believe in shared values so that they deliver benefits for patients, their families and the community

- leading with care - understand the underlying emotions that affect their team, and care for team members as individuals, helping them to manage unsettling feelings so they can focus their energy on delivering a great service that results in care for patients and other service users
• evaluating information - are open and alert to information, investigating what is happening now so that they can think in an informed way about how to develop proposals for improvement

• connecting our service - understand how things are done in different teams and organisations; they recognise the implications of different structures, goals, values and cultures so that they can make links, share risks and collaborate effectively

• sharing vision - convey a vivid and attractive picture of what everyone is working towards in a clear, consistent and honest way, so that they inspire hope and help others to see how their work fits in

• engaging the team - promote teamwork and a feeling of pride by valuing individuals’ contributions and ideas; this creates an atmosphere of staff engagement where desirable behaviour, such as mutual respect, compassionate care and attention to detail, are reinforced by all team members

• holding to account - create clarity about their expectations and what success looks like in order to focus people’s energy, give them the freedom to self-manage within the demands of their job, and deliver improving standards of care and service

• developing capability - champion learning and capability development so that they and others gain the skills, knowledge and experience they need to meet the future needs of the service, develop their own potential, and learn from both success and failure

• influencing for results - are sensitive to the concerns and needs of different individuals, groups and organisations, and use this to build networks of influence and plan how to reach agreement about priorities, allocation of resources or approaches to service delivery

It is also essential that any director champions the standards of public life – by upholding the highest standards of conduct and displaying the principles of selflessness, integrity, objectivity, accountability, openness, honesty, and leadership

3. Role and responsibilities

3.1. Role of the NHS Board

NHS Boards play a key role in shaping the strategy, vision and purpose of an organisation. They hold the organisation to account for the delivery of strategy and ensure value for money. They are also responsible for assuring that risks to the organisation and the public are managed and mitigated effectively. Led by an independent chair and composed of a mixture of both executive and independent non-executive members, the Board has a collective responsibility for the performance of the organisation.

The purpose of NHS Boards is to govern effectively, and in so doing build patient, public and stakeholder confidence that their health and healthcare is in safe hands. This fundamental accountability to the public and stakeholders is delivered by building confidence:

- in the quality and safety of health services
- that resources are invested in a way that delivers optimal health outcomes
- in the accessibility and responsiveness of health services
- that patients and the public can help to shape health services to meet their needs
- that public money is spent in a way that is fair, efficient, effective and economic.

3.2. Roles and responsibilities of the non-executive director

Non-executive directors will work alongside other non-executives and executive directors as an equal member of the Board. They share responsibility with the other directors for the decisions made by the Board and for success of the organisation in leading the local improvement of healthcare services for patients. Non-executives use their skills and personal experience as a member of their community to:

- Formulate plans and strategy
  - bringing independence, external perspectives, skills, and challenge to strategy development

- Ensure accountability
  - holding the executive to account for the delivery of strategy
  - providing purposeful, constructive scrutiny and challenge
• chairing or participating as a member of key committees that support accountability

• being accountable individually and collectively for the effectiveness of the Board

Shape culture and capability

• actively supporting and promoting a healthy culture for the organisation which is reflected in their own behaviour

• providing visible leadership in developing a healthy culture so that staff believe NEDs provide a safe point of access to the Board for raising concerns

• ensuring the directors of the Board are ‘fit and proper’ for the role and champion an open, honest and transparent culture within the organisation

Context

• mentoring less experienced NEDs where relevant

Process, structures and intelligence

• satisfying themselves of the integrity of reporting mechanisms, and financial and quality intelligence including getting out and about, observing and talking to patients and staff

• providing analysis and constructive challenge to information on organisational and operational performance

Engagement

• ensuring that the Board acts in best interests of patients and the public

• being available to staff if there are unresolved concerns

• showing commitment to working with key partners

In particular the responsibilities of non-executive directors are to:

• commit to working to, and encouraging within the Trust, the highest standards of probity, integrity and governance and contribute to ensuring that the Trust’s internal governance arrangements conform with best practice and statutory requirements
• provide independent judgement and advice on issues of strategy, vision, performance, resources and standards of conduct and constructively challenge, influence and help the executive board develop proposals on such strategies to enable the organisation to fulfil its leadership responsibilities to patients, for healthcare of the local community

• ensure that patients and service users are treated with dignity and respect at all times, and that the patient is central to trust decision making

• ensure that the Board sets challenging objectives for improving its performance across the range of its functions

• structure the performance of management in meeting agreed goals and objectives

• in accordance with agreed board procedures, monitor the performance and conduct of management in meeting agreed goals and objectives and statutory responsibilities, including the preparation of annual reports and annual accounts and other statutory duties

• ensure that financial information is accurate and that financial controls and risk management systems are robust and defensible and that the Board is kept fully informed through timely and relevant information (you may be asked to sit on the audit committee on behalf of the Board)

• accept accountability to the NHS Improvement for the delivery of the organisation’s objectives and ensure that the Board acts in the best interests of patients and its local community

• contribute to the determination of appropriate levels of remuneration for executive directors

• participate in the audit committee and take an active part in other committees (including the investment and remuneration committees) established by the Board of directors to exercise delegated responsibility

• as a member of board committees, appoint, remove, support, encourage and where appropriate "mentor" senior executives

• bring independent judgement and experience from outside the Trust and apply this to the benefit of the Trust, its stakeholders and its wider community
• assist fellow directors in providing entrepreneurial leadership to the Trust within a framework of prudent and effective controls, which enable risk to be assessed and managed

• assist fellow directors in setting the Trust’s values and standards and ensure that its obligations to its stakeholders and the wider community are understood and fairly balanced at all times

• ensure that the organisation values diversity in its workforce and demonstrates equality of opportunity in its treatment of staff and patients and in all aspects of its business

• engage positively and collaboratively in board discussion of agenda items and act as an ambassador for the Trust in engagement with stakeholders including patients and the local community, dealing with the media when appropriate.
4. The seven principles of public life

The principles of public life apply to anyone who works as a public office-holder and therefore will apply to the successful candidate for this role:

- selflessness - holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest

- integrity - holders of public office must avoid placing themselves under any obligation to people or organisations that might try inappropriately to influence them in their work. They should not act or take decisions in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends. They must declare and resolve any interests and relationships

- objectivity - holders of public office must act and take decisions impartially, fairly and on merit, using the best evidence and without discrimination or bias

- accountability - holders of public office are accountable to the public for their decisions and actions and must submit themselves to the scrutiny necessary to ensure this

- openness - holders of public office should act and take decisions in an open and transparent manner. Information should not be withheld from the public unless there are clear and lawful reasons for so doing

- honesty - holders of public office should be truthful

- leadership - holders of public office should exhibit these principles in their own behaviour. They should actively promote and robustly support the principles and be willing to challenge poor behaviour whenever it occurs

The Commissioner for Public Appointments would like to find out what you think of the public appointments process. When you have completed the process, the Commissioner would appreciate a few minutes of your time to complete a survey. Your response will be anonymous and will inform the Commissioner’s ongoing work with Government Departments to improve the public appointments process.

Given the significant public profile and responsibility members of NHS Boards hold, it is vital that those appointed inspire confidence of the public, patients and NHS staff at all times. New regulations now require NHS Improvement to make a number of specific background checks to ensure that those we appoint are “fit and proper” people to hold these important roles. More information can be found on our website.
5. Terms and conditions of appointment

- The remuneration payable for this role is £6,157 per annum.

- On average this role will require a time commitment equivalent to 2 to 3 days a month.

- Your appointment will be for an initial period of up to four years, after which you may be considered for further terms of office, subject to the needs of the organisation and a good performance.

- You should ideally have strong connections with the north west London sector and/or live within easy range to get to the trust.
